

IPDC Climate Adaptation and Water in the Caribbean

Conference Invitation

What is the IPDC?

The International Panel on Deltas and Coastal areas (IPDC) aims at linking together policy makers, experts and practitioners in a unique partnership to accelerate climate adaptation action.

What is the aim of our conference?

To bring together leaders and experts from Caribbean countries and international level and to discuss how IPDC could support the Caribbean region.

What are we going to do?

On Tuesday December 13th, we start with introducing the IPDC and a high-level political dialogue. Then, research on climate trends and adaptation strategies will be presented. This is followed by a discussion on how to work towards Caribbean island adaptation strategies.

On Wednesday December 14th, we will make a visit to a relevant site in Curaçao.

Programme

13 December 2022

09.30 - 12.15 Welcome by hosts
Keynote minister Harbers
Introduction IPDC
High-level dialogue

Lunch

13.00 - 16.45 Presentations on trends, challenges and strategies
Discussion

Network drinks

14 December 2022

07.30 - 14.00 Site visit on climate adaptation in Curaçao